THE COMING CONTEST

General Tracy Is Nominated For Mayor of Greater New York.

REPUBLICANS' CHOICE IS UNANIMOUS.

The Full Ticket as Named at Last Night's Carnegie Hall Convention Includes Also Ashbel P. Fitch and R. Ross Appleton.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The Republican convention to make nominations for the coming municipal elections was held last night in Carnegie hall.

The doors were opened at 7:15 o'clock, and the gallery was quickly packed to its utmost capacity. The dress circle filled up next, the holders of tickets for the parterre boxes coming last.

There was a great deal of talk among the delegates as to whether or not Low's name would be brought before the convention, but every one seemed to be at sea on this point, and the leaders of the Low faction of the Kings county delegation did not appear until the last moment, so they could not be questioned about the matter.

Before the convention had convened, shortly after 8 o'clock, Senator Platt, accompanied by Mrs. Platt and several ladies, appeared in the parterre box immediately above the right of the platform. The band played "Hail to the Chief," and the crowd cheered and yelled until it was hoarse.

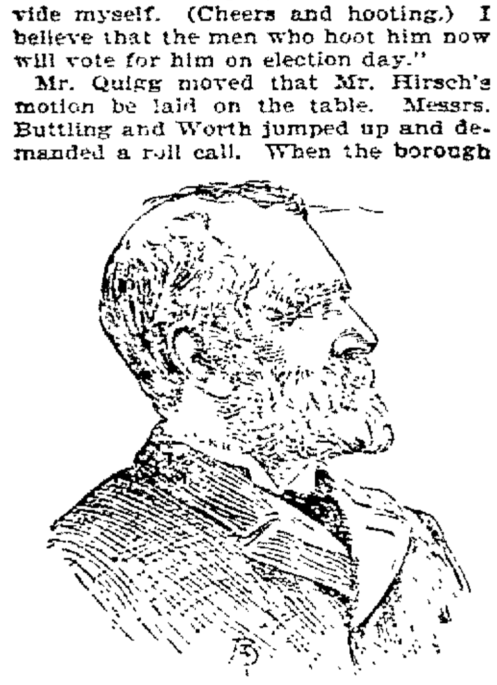
"Three cheers for Platt!" were given again and again. The senator bowed and smiled.

When the convention assembled, Lieutenant Governor Woodruff as chairman called for committee reports, and Joseph M. Deuel reported for the committee on contested seats in favor of dividing the vote in the First and Second districts in Brooklyn so as to give each side a half vote.

Hugo Hirsch moved as an amendment that the committee be discharged and that the sitting delegates be allowed to retain their seats. This statement of Mr. Deuel that each side had been given an opportunity to be heard was not correct. The Low people had not been given a fair show, while Lieutenant Governor Woodruff had been allowed to present the case of the opposition at great length and was not limited as to time. The delegations headed by Messrs. Chittendon and Buttling had been honestly elected and were entitled to the whole vote and no half vote.

"I was not born a twin and I cannot divide myself," said Mr. Hirsch. "We were instructed to work and vote for Seth Low for mayor, and I cannot divide myself. (Cheers and hooting.) I believe that the men who hoot him now will vote for him on election day."

Mr. Quigg moved that Mr. Hirsch's motion be laid on the table. Messrs. Buttling and Worth jumped up and demanded a roll call. When the borough of Manhattan was reached, Mr. Quigg said he was instructed to cast 191 votes in the affirmative.



BENJAMIN F. TRACY.

Mr. Woodruff instructed the secretary not to call the roll of the First and Second districts of Brooklyn, where the contests were. Sheriff Buttling demanded that his name be called.

Cries of "Sit down, sit down!" greeted Mr. Buttling.

"I will when I get through," said Mr. Buttling.

When the calling of the roll was continued, Buttling shouted, "Is this the temporary or permanent organization?"

He was greeted with cries of derision.

When Jacob Worth's name was called, he arose and denounced the ruling of the chairman. "I do not care about being cheered," he said, when the cheers of his friends had subsided. "I have been hissed as often as I have been cheered, and I do not know of anything I have done to deserve one more than the other." He went on to denounce the report of the committee as unfair. He spoke of Platt as the man who presses the button, and all obey the orders of the button.

At this point the Plattites yelled, "Sit down!" but Mr. Worth kept on. He said that the delegates had been regularly elected, and when a dispute was sprung he had expected the committee on contested seats to do just what they had done. He understood that they had assembled to hold a convention to nominate candidates and not to elect new delegates.

When the roll call was finished, the vote was announced as 701 to 46, and the motion of Mr. Hirsch was laid on the table. The report of the committee on contested seats was then adopted.

The platform was then presented and adopted. It indorsed the St. Louis platform and Mr. McKinley's administration as president, also Governor Black and the last Republican legislature. It sets forth the work done by the Republicans in accomplishing the consolidation of the Greater New York and urges the fitness of electing a Republican mayor for the city. It commends the provisions in regard to the letting of public franchises and praises the principles embodied in the law regulating the sale of liquor. It finally rehearses the work done by the Republican party for the good of the city.

After the adoption of the platform Mr. Quigg moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of a candidate for the office of mayor of Greater New York.

District Attorney Olcott placed in nomination for mayor General Benjamin F. Tracy.

Jacob Worth, in a speech continually interrupted by cheers and groans, nominated Seth Low.

Before the nominations closed Frederick A. Schroeder's name was also brought before the convention. Balloting then began.

Mr. Quigg cast the entire vote of the boroughs of New York and Bronx, 191 votes, for General Tracy. S. B. Chittenden cast 6 half votes for Low, and Buttling 4 half votes for Low. Mr. Hurley cast 4 votes for General Tracy.

The vote finally stood: Tracy, 297; Low, 49; Schroeder, 2.

Sheriff Buttling, when the vote was announced, said, "In view of the fact that the gentleman from New York says Tracy will stick, I move to make the nomination unanimous."

He added that the candidate of the convention would receive the loyal support of Mr. Worth and his faction. General Tracy's nomination was then made unanimous, and a committee consisting of Delegates Bidwell, Worth, Prall, McRoberts and Hurley was appointed to notify General Tracy of his nomination.

ASHBEL P. FITCH.

Chauncey M. Depew nominated the Hon. Ashbel P. Fitch for comptroller, and on a motion by Delegate Hirsch the nomination was made unanimous. General Tracy accepted the nomination for mayor. He read his speech from manuscript, and the convention listened with apparent indifference.

General Benjamin F. Tracy's speech of acceptance was, in part, as follows:

"Great as is the honor of your nomination, inspiring as would be the expression of public confidence which should call me at this time to the chief office of the government of this great metropolis, I shall not conceal from you the fact that it is not without great reluctance that I have consented to become your candidate. I have reached a time in life when the promptings of ambition have largely lost their power to move men, and the strifes and contentions incident to public service have become distasteful.

"Two considerations have induced me, after most anxious thought, to accept the nomination which you have tendered me: First, the gravity of the crisis which now confronts the people of this great city, and, second, the fact that so many Republicans and other friends of good government, in whose judgement I have confidence, have urged me to accept your nomination in the hope that in the present state of division and disunion I can contribute somewhat to bring into harmonious action and to unite under one banner all the opponents of Tammany Hall.

"It is of the first importance that the position of chief executive of the city should be filled by a man of independent judgment, large experience in public affairs and possessed of that force of character which will enable him to lift the administration of the city to the highest possible plane of efficiency, intelligence and integrity and to keep it there. It is not enough that he should be negatively honest. He must be affirmatively and aggressively honest. He must see to it that the public money is not wasted and that the present high credit of the city is not impaired.

"To what extent I possess the qualifications indispensable to this great office is a question which must be submitted to the judgment and decision of my fellow citizens. In reaching a conclusion upon that subject I am conscious that they will be guided more by the record which I have already made in public life than by any promises or assurances that I can give them now.

"That record began more than 40 years ago and covers 23 years of active public service. By that record my fitness for this great office must be determined.

"If it shall hereafter appear to your representatives that instead of promoting harmony and success my candidacy stands in their way, I should wish to have your permission to adopt that course which in my judgment and in the judgment of your representatives shall seem to be the course of duty and of honor.

"Deeply sensible of the honor which has been shown me by my fellow Republicans in selecting me as their candidate, I accept the nomination. If my candidacy be the means of bringing about the desired union, I shall rest content. If, however, the spirit of harmony and conciliation which we thus invoke does not prevail, I propose, having accepted this nomination, to make the fight to the end.

"I shall ask for the votes of my fellow citizens on the direct issue of good city government, as an advocate and supporter of which I yield place to no man, and I shall regard this contest, which I enter against all others, as a battle to be fought and won."

Jesse Johnson of Kings then nominated R. Ross Appleton for president of the council. This was also a unanimous nomination.

The convention then adjourned sine die at 11:20 o'clock.

POLITICIAN'S CLEVER RUSE.

How a Congressman Swells the Heads of His Constituents.

There is a member of congress who does not live a thousand miles away from Pennsylvania and New Jersey who has hit upon a very clever scheme to make himself solid throughout his district. In fact, this congressman is continually hitting upon such schemes, and they extend so far that he can probably represent his district as long as he wants or until his constituents conclude to put him in some other office, the governorship of his state, for instance, says the Philadelphia Press.

His latest little scheme to bring himself pleasantly to the recollection of a large number of his constituents is unique. There are several hundred post offices in his district, and, of course, the usual number of applicants for each one. The indorsements of the applicants are on file at the post office department, and usually contain a long list of names of prominent patrons of the office.

When the congressman makes a recommendation of a man for any post office he takes the list of the man's indorsers and sends each one a personal letter much after this fashion:

"In accordance with your recommendation, I have to-day named —— for postmaster at ——."

Each man who receives such a letter immediately has a new idea of his own in politics and is pleased to think that his congressman recognizes his importance. In any case, the receipt of a personal letter from a member of congress is apt to tickle the vanity of a private citizen.

A Lynching Prevented.

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 29.—Reports from Apalachicola say there was a serious riot there. It appears that a white engineer on the steamer R. D. Owens sent a negro boy to a shoemaker for his shoes. The shoemaker told the boy he could not get the shoes without the money. When the boy delivered the message, the engineer attacked him with a knife, cutting his throat. The boy was dead in a few minutes. The negroes became terribly excited. They gathered in large numbers and attempted to lynch the engineer. The Franklin County guards were ordered out, and with the assistance of citizens a lynching was prevented and order restored.

Still Wants the Office.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Mr. Lyons, the colored man who is seeking the appointment to the postmastership at Augusta, Ga., was at the postoffice department yesterday. He said the shooting of the Hogansville postmaster was an occurrence that could have occurred at no other place in the state and added that at most places there was no extreme prejudice against colored men as federal officeholders.

A Murder In New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Virginia Williams, 23 years old, a colored servant at 314 West Forty-second street, was killed by her husband last night at that place. He shot her.

Suicide From Despondency.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Charles J. Graham, prominently connected in this city, committed suicide by taking paris green. He was despondent

Lamp Explosion Starts a Fire.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 29.—By the explosion of a lamp a fire was caused in the Hannah Gray Home For Aged Women. Mary Ransom received probably fatal burns.

Still More Fever.

MOBILE, Sept. 29.—Ten new cases and one death from yellow fever are reported. There were two more deaths in New Orleans.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES

Forest fires in Wyoming have destroyed at least 3,000,000 feet of timber.

J. Oscar Michaels, a prominent Republican of Camden, N. J., committed suicide.

The Guatemalan insurgents are concentrating at Quezaltenango and will soon be besieged.

The Chickasaw legislature has passed an act placing a royalty on all gold mined in the Nation.

The Dawes commission has concluded a treaty with the Creek Indians providing for an allotment of lands.

Postmaster General Gary is expected to recommend a plan for the establishment of postal savings banks to congress.

Chandler Hale, son of Senator Hale, was married to Miss Rachael B. Cameron, daughter of ex-Senator Cameron, at Harrisburg.

Proceedings to recover title for the state to some 200,000 acres in the Saranac region of the Adirondacks were begun at Albany.

The brig Percy Edwards, which left San Francisco last February with 100 South sea colonists, is now said to be engaged in the slave trade.

It is announced at Teheran, Persia, that Turkish Kurds were the aggressors in the fighting on the frontier last August and that 300 persons were massacred.

WON THEIR FREEDOM

Two Prisoners, Charged With Grave Crimes, Break Jail.

SAWED THE BARS OF THEIR CELLS.

A Man Saw Them Drop From a Shed and Gave the Alarm, but It Was Too Late, For the Birds Had Flown.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 29.—In a bold attempt at a general jail delivery last night two desperate men, charged with grave crimes, escaped from the Middlesex County jail here. The men are Charles Aspinwall, 24 years old, indicted on a charge of atrocious assault and highway robbery, and Daniel Scudder, 45 years old, colored, who was awaiting trial on charges of assault with intent to kill and highway robbery.

David Messler, the jailer, was seated in the sheriff's office, adjoining the jail corridor, at 9 o'clock, when a man entered in breathless haste, exclaiming: "Two men have just escaped from the jail. I saw them drop from a shed into Paterson street only a moment ago."

The jailer immediately summoned George Litterst, the sheriff, and Howard Wessner, his deputy, and all started for the corridor, where the prisoners seemed in great excitement. The officers hurried all of the prisoners into their cells. Aspinwall and Scudder were missing.

The door of their cell, No. 16, in the second corridor, was open. Investigation showed that one of the thick iron bars protecting a window 12 feet from the floor, had been cut in two places, leaving a space 16 inches by 7 in size. On the floor under the window lay a steel saw. Five blankets knotted together and reaching nearly to the ground, 30 feet below, showed how easily the prisoners had slid down.

While the sheriff was making this investigation a general alarm was sent to police headquarters, and the police in neighboring cities were advised of the escape by telephone. The only news of the men was received from Elizabeth about 10:30 o'clock, when the police telephoned that two men answering the description of Aspinwall and Scudder had been seen riding toward Jersey City on a freight train.

From the fact that the prisoners used five blankets, which must have been given to them by other prisoners, Sheriff Litterst believes that a general delivery was planned. All the prisoners, when questioned, professed to know nothing of the plot and refused to offer any explanation about the blankets. But for the prompt discovery of the escape and the hasty action in locking the prisoners in their cells Sheriff Litterst thinks many more would have escaped.

THE GAMESTERS WON.

The Proposed New Jersey Antigambling Amendment Was Defeated.

TRENTON, Sept. 29.—New Jersey's citizens were supposed to vote yesterday on three proposed amendments to the state constitution. Most of them did not take the trouble to go to the polls, however. The result is that all the amendments were rejected by a large majority.

These are the amendments:

First.—That no poolselling, bookmaking or gambling of any sort shall be authorized or allowed within this state, nor shall any gambling device, practice or game of chance now prohibited by the laws be legalized, nor the penalty now provided therefor be in any way diminished.

Second.—That no person who shall have been nominated by the governor and shall not have been confirmed by the senate before the recess of the legislature shall be eligible for appointment to such office during such recess.

Third.—That the right of suffrage at any school meeting shall be granted female citizens of the age of 21 years.

The total vote cast was about 23,000 against the amendments to 8,500 in their favor.

Governor Pingree In Chicago?

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Governor Pingree of Michigan has been found. According to W. H. F. Holmes, a lawyer of this city, who arrived here from Detroit, the governor boarded the train at a station not far west of Detroit and took a sleeping car for Chicago. The governor, said Mr. Holmes, was very sociable and introduced himself as the governor of Michigan to the gentlemen in the buffet. The evening was passed very pleasantly, Mr. Holmes says. The governor said he would call on various Chicago aldermen concerning garbage matters and other questions of public interest.

A Malt Company Incorporated.

TRENTON, Sept. 29.—The American Malting company, organized to manufacture and deal in malt, with an authorized capital of $30,000,000, has been incorporated under the laws of this state. The incorporators are Hamilton H. Durand of New York, Frederick Dwight of Brooklyn and John J. Treacey of Jersey City.

Millions at Stake.

NEW YORK, S pt. 29.—An action just begun in the supreme court attacks the will of Miriam A. Osborn, mother of Howell Osborn, alleging that the instrument was the result of the coercion of her counsel and executor, John W. Sterling. Besides an immense amount of realty, there is nearly $5 000 000 in securities involved.

Texas Is Alarmed.

DALLAS, Sept. 29.—The yellow fever fright has struck the state in earnest. Nearly all of the towns in eastern, central and southern Texas have declared shotgun quarantine against Houston.

HE ALSO SAW HER.

Story From Nebraska by a Lawyer In Tekemah Regarding Mrs. Luetgert.

TEKEMAH, Neb., Sept. 29.—H. Waldo Gillis, an attorney of this place, claims to have seen the wife of A. L. Luetgert, who is now on trial in Chicago for her murder, long after the woman's body is supposed to have been destroyed with acid in the sausage factory. He says the woman came to him in the latter part of May and consulted him about getting a divorce. His story is as follows:

"Perhaps I can do the accused husband no good, for I may not be able to convince the jury that I saw Mrs. Luetgert, but if I did not see the woman I saw a person who resembles her in every particular. Why did I not speak of it before? For the very good reason that it never occurred to me that the woman I saw was Mrs. Luetgert until I entered the courtroom in Chicago on Wednesday and heard the woman described by one of the witnesses. Then I hunted up a photograph of Mrs. Luetgert and was certain that I knew some important facts about the case.

Saw Her In Wisconsin.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The battle between experts has begun, and from now on there will be denials of the evidence of the medical men and chemists who testified for the state in the Luetgert case. The defense put its first witness in the expert line on the stand, and he will be followed by a long string of others. The witness of yesterday was Dr. B. L. Reise, who boiled two bodies in caustic potash in the vat in Luetgert's sausage factory and obtained results different from those who performed the same experiment in behalf of the state.

Another witness of the day was Armadale Opdyke, a peddler, who testified that long after the murder is said to have been committed he saw Mrs. Luetgert in the neighborhood of Janesville, Wis. He said that there was no chance of his being mistaken, and he identified a photograph of her in the most positive manner.

Two girls were placed upon the stand to impeach the testimony of Emma Schimpke, who said that she saw Luetgert and his wife enter the factory on the night on which the murder is said to have been committed.

There is a strong probability that Mary Siemmering will be called upon to answer a charge of perjury.

PLOT AGAINST NICHOLAS.

Story From Warsaw of a Conspiracy to Take the Emperor's Life.

WARSAW, Sept. 29.—Though an official denial will be forthcoming, it has leaked out from official circles in such a manner as leaves no room for doubt that there was a deliberate and determined plot against Emperor Nicholas at the time of his recent visit to this city. Its success was only frustrated by accident.

Several weeks before the arrival of the imperial party a number of persons, supposed to belong to the German Socialist party, undermined Norvy sviat, the principal street in Warsaw, between the governor general's palace and the royal castle.

As the tunnel, which had been undertaken from the cellar of a beerhouse, approached completion, the conspirators became apprehensive of a collapse of the roadway and called in several Polish masons to build supports. The masons, whose suspicions were aroused, notified the police, and 130 arrests followed.

Among those in custody are four distinguished German officers, either on leave or belonging to the landwehr, who had been active in the actual work of tunneling. A number of merchants and manufacturers of the town of Lodzy, Poland, are also implicated.

KILLED IN A HOLDUP.

Highwaymen Stop the Booneville Stage and Shoot a Passenger.

UKIAH, Cal., Sept. 29.—Two masked highwaymen held up the Booneville stage yesterday afternoon, and J. R. Barnett, a passenger, was shot and instantly killed by one of the robbers. As the stage was passing through a heavily wooded part of the road seven miles from here, the bandits suddenly appeared and ordered the driver to stop. Barnett, who was seated on the rear of the stage, heard the order and plunged his hand into his pocket to secure his purse. The highwaymen thought that Barnett was about to draw his pistol and fired, the charge striking Barnett in the neck, killing him instantly.

The robbers then secured three express boxes and disappeared. The sheriff is now trailing the outlaws with bloodhounds. If the highwaymen are taken they will undoubtedly be lynched.

DAWSON CITY BURNED

News of a Great Disaster to the Town on the Yukon.

PACKERS SAY THE STORY IS TRUE.

They Brought Over the Skagguay Trail the First Tidings of the Catastrophe Said to Have Visited Joseph Ladue's Goldfield Metropolis.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 29.—The Union Steamship company's steamer Coquitlan, just arrived from Skagguay, brings the report that Dawson City, in the Klondike, was burned about three weeks ago.

Captain Freeman of the Coquitland says that he heard the report just before leaving Skagguay. Some men were said to have come up the Yukon to Lake Bennett with the news. Packers brought the story over the trail.

Captain Freeman received no confirmation of the report, although he said it was persistently reported to him by Klondikers in Skagguay.

Dawson City, on the Yukon, has been the most important point in the new mining regions. Joseph Ladue, the founder of this little city, which was built almost like magic and populated by the settlers from four or five of the old localities, says that the population in June of this year exceeded 4,000. He estimated that by June of next year the population would have increased to at least 25,000, so favorably located is the town.

Dawson City became the natural distributing point for supplies intended for consumption in the Klondike region. The city boasted a sawmill, stores and Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist and Roman Catholic churches. Mr. Ladue, in speaking of his experience in Dawson, says:

"Strangely enough, and as if by some stroke of good fortune, I had come down the river about the same time McCormack left Gold Bottom and had picked out a town site where Dawson City now stands, a little more than a mile from the Bonanza creek claims. I commenced erecting the first house in that region on Sept. 1, 1896. Within six months from that date there were more than 500 houses erected, which included stores, supply stations, hotels, restaurants, saloons and residences. I hold 178 acres, while the other 22 are the property of the government."

The houses of Dawson were built of wood, and a great many of the miners contented themselves even with tents. The dangers of the spreading of fire should a blaze ever start in the town were great, but there was no other material at hand from which buildings could be put up in the limited time which elapsed from the discovery of the riches to the formation of a city.

The importance of the news from Dawson City, holding as it does the key to the comfort and even the life of the miners of the Yukon district, cannot easily be overestimated. If the town has been destroyed, the news will mean the working of inestimable hardship to the thousands who are wintering in the wilds and are depending upon the Dawson supplies for the necessaries of life. Great privation and loss of life are sure to follow the destruction of Dawson.

Judge Interferes In Primaries.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Republican primaries held here were very hotly contested. In one ward Charles C. Pollock was challenged and swore that he voted for Bryan, whereupon his vote was rejected. He then made application to Justice Barnard of the supreme court, and the judge issued an order to the officers conducting the primaries to show cause forthwith before him why they should not receive the vote and commanding them not to adjourn nor declare the result until after the hearing of the order. Upon the hearing which followed he issued a peremptory mandamus ordering the vote to be received and counted. Lawyers generally think the judge exceeded his authority in interfering.

Kitty Joyce Drinks Poison.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Miss Kitty Joyce, a young woman well known to the police and a constant frequenter of the music halls and concert places along the Boulevard, attempted suicide last night by drinking carbolic acid while sitting on the steps of a house on Columbus avenue. The surgeons at the Roosevelt hospital, where she was taken, say she will probably die. Her home is in Wilkesbarre, and she claims a prominent judge as her father.

Essex County Republicans.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The Essex county Republican convention was held at the courthouse here. Captain James H. Pierce, member of assembly, presided. Captain Pierce was unanimously renominated for member of assembly. Milo C. Perry of Elizabethtown was nominated for district attorney and Joseph Wright of Moriah for sheriff. The convention was extremely quiet

Massachusetts Democratic Convention.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 29.—The Democratic state convention yesterday made these nominations: Hon. George Fred Williams for governor, Hon. Christopher T. Callahan for lieutenant governor, C. D. Nash for secretary, John A. O'Keefe for attorney general, T. A. Watson for treasurer and receiver general and J. L. Chalifoux for auditor.

Death at a Fair.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Henry W. Meeker, a railroad man, was killed at the Interstate fair yesterday by the falling of a timber from the top of the grand stand. David P. Bunnell, a veteran, fell dead as he was dismounting from his bicycle at the entrance to the fair grounds.

A Handsome Complexion is one of the greatest charms a woman can possess. POZZONI'S COMPLEXION POWDER gives it.

THE People of the State of New York to Oliver P. Moore, Charles Moore, Emma Eckman, heirs at law and next of kin of Azuba Moore, late of the city of Middletown, in the county of Orange, deceased, send greeting

You and each of you are hereby cited personally to be and appear before our Surrogate, at his office, in the city of Newburgh, in said county, on the 19th day of October, 1897, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to attend the probate of a certain instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, bearing date the 12th day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety three, on the application of Wilmot Moore, claiming to be sole executor thereof, which said last will relates to and is offered for probate as a will of real and personal property.

And that if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years they are required to appear by their guardian, if they have one, or if they have none that they appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of their neglect or failure to do so a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for them in the proceeding.

LAW IN CRIPPLE CREEK.

How It Is Enforced by the Officers of the Town.

A Stupid Visitor from the East Is Enlightened by an Old Settler —Some of Perquisites of the City Marshal.

"I see," remarked the visitor from the east, as he put his leg over the arm of a chair in the lobby of the National hotel at Cripple Creek, "that you people have just elected a new police marshal, after a considerable scramble for the office," says the Cripple Creek Guide.

"Yes," responded his friend, "we are going in for reforms."

"But I cannot understand," returned the stranger, "why there should be such ambition to obtain such an honor. The salary is not large, I am told, and the duties are onerous."

"That is very true," replied the native, "but the salary, you must know, really has nothing to do with it. The income from the marshalship is often very large."

"I must beg that you will make yourself clear."

"That is what I am endeavoring to do. In the first place, embezzlement in Cripple Creek is one of the most common crimes. The marshal is usually kept busy chasing embezzlers who carry away with them thousands of dollars. Not infrequently he catches up with them."

"Ah," exclaimed the visitor, "a light begins to break. It is his custom, then, I suppose to accept a portion of the stolen funds, and permit the culprit to escape. We have had examples of that sort of thing in the effete east."

"No," added the Cripple Creeker, "you fail to appreciate the fact that we people here in the west are about 100 years ahead of you slow-going easterners. We manage such matters on a much more advanced scale. The marshal of Cripple Creek when he goes out to make an arrest invariably makes it or dies in his tracks. It would be a disgrace from which he could never hope to recover if he let his prisoner escape, or even connived at such a thing."

THE NATIVE EXPLAINS.
("How Stupid You Eastern People Are!")

"I am in the dark again."

"I will enlighten you. The marshal not only seizes the flying thief, but he likewise seizes the money—not a portion of it, but all of it."

"And returns it to the proper owner?"

"Not if he knows his business. On the other hand, his services and expenses must be paid for, and as the money is in hand he does not have to collect by process of law. Now and then it happens, of course, that a reform wave comes sweeping in, and the reformers—that is to say, the opposition—are disposed to require at least a small balance of the money thus recovered turned over to the original losers or divided among themselves. When such a contingency arises a self-respecting marshal naturally becomes indignant and leaves the town, taking the funds with him."

"I understand. And the recent vacancy was caused in that way?"

"Precisely."

"And the new marshal? Is he likely to have an embezzler to chase very soon?"

The native's face took on an expression of disgust.

"How stupid you eastern people are," he said; "the new marshal's first work will be to discover the whereabouts of his predecessor in office."

No Oxygen in the Sun.

Following up the researches of two German physicians who were recently led to conclude that three lines of oxygen in the solar spectrum were not atmospheric, Mr. Lewis Jewell considers that he has proven conclusively that the lines are produced by water vapor in the earth's atmosphere, and that, therefore, the spectroscope does not indicate oxygen in the sun.

Some Self-Clothed Fish.

The ocean contains several fish which clothe and adorn themselves. The most conspicuous of them is the antennarius, a small fish frequenting the Saragossa sea which literally clothes itself in seaweed, fastening the pieces together with sticky gelatinous strings, and then, as it were, holding the garments on with its fore fins.

Old Sails Are the Best.

A sea captain has found that the sails of a ship when filled with a number of small holes bear it along more rapidly than when they are perfectly whole. He says that an ordinary sail cannot receive the full force of the wind, owing to the bulk of stationary air that fills up the hollow of the concave canvas.

The Salaries of Governors.

With one exception the governors of all the states receive a definite salary, without the addition of fees or perquisites. The exception is the governor of Oregon, who gets $1,500 cash and some extra. His is the smallest salary paid any governor of an American state, except the governor of Vermont, who gets $1,500 without any extras.

A BULL'S GOOD APPETITE.

He Is Accused of Eating 300 Bushels of Apples in a Night.

Col. Deevers was one of the most celebrated characters in central Ohio. He was nothing if not prodigal in his generosity, his flow of language, his wealth of imagination. The colonel never explained how he got his title, but he always insisted on being addressed by that title.

On one occasion, says a local exchange, the colonel employed a lawyer to attend to a trifling matter for him and promised a speedy settlement of the account. Time went by and the colonel failed to keep his word. The lawyer stirred the colonel up about it the next time he saw him in town, and the upshot of it was that the colonel agreed to send the lawyer a dozen bushels of the finest apples in Ohio. But no apples came to the lawyer. One day he saw the colonel in town and immediately bore down on him for an explanation. He got it. The colonel, taking his friend by the lapel of his coat, said, impressively:

"Mr. Williams, I fully expected to send you those apples. I had 'em, sir; yes, sir, 300 bushels of the finest apples ever raised in the state of Ohio. I had 'em all cribbed up, and one night a derned little yearlin' bull broke in and eat 'em all up. Yes, sir, ever' last one of 'em."

County Map of Tapestry.

A tapestry map of Warwickshire, Shakespeare's county, six yards by eight, made in 1598, has been lately on exhibition in London, where it was sent to be repaired. It is one of five made by Flemish weavers imported into England, and is the largest and most minute topographical record of the time. It once belonged to Horace Walpole, but is now the property of the York museum.

The Roman Coliseum.

The largest single structure in the world for audience and spectacular purposes is the Coliseum at Rome. It is in the form of an ellipse; its diameter is 615 feet; its short, 510; the height of the outer wall, 164. The arena is 218 feet long by 176 broad. The tiers of seats accommodate 100,000 spectators.

Graves of the Zulus.

The most curiously decorated graves in the world are the negro graves in Zululand. Some of these mounds are garnished with the bottles of medicine used by the departed in their final illness and the duration of the malady is easily guessed by the number of bottles.

London Third in Cows.

Edinburgh has 22,000 cows, while Dublin comes next with 11,000 and London stands third with a cow population of 8,000. Glasgow has but 2,000 cows.

Tompkins' New Store.

NO. 8 EAST MAIN STREET.

Great Special Sale of Dress Goods~~, Silks, Winter Underwear and Blankets, Beginning Monday~~, Sept. 27th, and continuing for one week. There is one point you can always bank upon, our prominent feature in retailing, and that is, where the crowds go that tells the story. The crowds come this way because they find exactly the goods they want at the price they like to pay. Tompkins' great sales force the price down to a point where competition seems futile, where underselling is impossible. And don't forget that our extraordinary modest figures are on this season's brightest and best merchandise. Read this Bargain Story, then wonder that such little prices can be made. Study this Bargain Story and see how much execution in Dress Goods, Winter Underwear and Blankets your dollar can do next week.

The Big Blanket Sale.

Monday it begins, and since April last we have been preparing for it, choosing the goods, buying big lots wherever there was a price advantage in doing so. We know we have to-day the largest quantity of blankets held by any one firm in this county. We know we own them much below to-day's ruling prices. We also know that, despite the daily advance in cost, we shall sell them at this great sale at the lowest prices ever known in this county. We have never known a time when the consumer could save so much money by spending so little. So we advise and urge our friends and patrons everywhere to take full advantage of the situation and buy now enough blankets for two or three years to come. Hotel and boarding house keepers are particularly invited to attend the sale. They will save money by it.

Blankets 35c a Pair.

200 pair grey or white ten-quarter size made of pure selected yarn, manufacturer's seconds, called so because of some slight imperfection usually a tear on one selvaged side made by the machinery in weaving—it will not affect the wear in the least. Other dealers charge 50 to 59c a pair for these. At Tompkins' 35c a pair

Very Large-Sized Blankets

Red borders, well taped, will cost you $1 usually. At Tompkins' sale 75c a pair.

100 Pair Very Heavy and Large White Blankets—

They are world beaters—nicely taped and made with pretty pink or blue borders, at this sale 98c a pair.

50 Pair of Blankets, Large Size and heavy fleeced, at sale $1 25 a pair, worth $1.75.

50 Pair Extra Heavy Blankets,

ORANGE COUNTY HORSE SHOW.

Every Indication That It Will Surpass All Previous Exhibitions.

From the Independent Republican.

All appearances now indicate that the third annual exhibition by the Horse Show Association of Orange county on Friday and Saturday of this week at Goshen Driving Park will be in every respect the most successful in the history of the organization. The number of entries in the various classes is largely in excess of last year, numbering 225 as against 145 a year ago. The demand for boxes and seats has been unprecedented. Six new boxes have been added to the grand stand and they were sold long ago.

A feature of this year's exhibition will be the increased proportion of local horses included in the entries. Orange county horsemen have awakened to the knowledge that the annual horse show is a pretty good place to exhibit the pick of their stock, and that even if the animal fails to win the blue ribbon it may be easily possible to effect a good sale as the result of the showing made.

The fair sex is going to be very much in evidence not only in the boxes but behind the high strung horses on exhibition. Miss Stokes, of Tuxedo, will drive a tandem; Mrs. John A. Goldsmith, of Walnut Grove Stock Farm, Washingtonville, will hold the reins over her new team of high steppers; Miss Belle Henning, of Highland Mills, will again put her handsome carriage horse Brilliant through his paces; Miss Gurney, of Goshen, will drive Royal Princess, and Miss Harriman, of Arden, her high stepping chestnut mare, Warray.

Good Prices for Late Peaches—Had a Stroke of Paralysis—Bad Roads—Other Notes.

Correspondence of ARGUS and MERCURY.

—The late peaches are bringing better prices for our farmers.

—We are informed that Thomas Rosewall, president of the White Rock Lime and Cement Company, had a slight stroke of paralysis last Friday.

—The roads are in terrible shape at present, especially the one leading from this place to Stockholm, and should be repaired before freezing weather sets in. While speaking of the roads, we are sorrowfully reminded that the worst roads in Sussex county are to be found right here in Vernon. One can tell by the roads just as soon as he crosses the line of other townships. Hardyston, Wantage, Sparta and all the other townships have good roads. Why can't we? Are our committeemen, road overseers and other town officers going to continue to sleep and let our roads be washed stone bare off the face of the map. Come, wake up to a sense of duty to your town and fellow men.

—We are informed that robbers entered the hardware store of John Linn, at Hamburg, last Saturday night, and stole guns, knives, silverware, etc., amounting to over $300.

—Mrs. David Sisco died at McAfee, one day last week, from a stroke of paralysis.

—George Parker is again confined to the house.

—William Willis has been on the sick list for the past few days, but is somewhat improved at present.

"Life Renewer" For Ladies.

Oliva Peterson, of Coldwater, Mich., writes: "I had not been able to sit up a half day at a time for thirteen years until I used the Mystic Life Renewer. It has cured me of nervous troubles, headache and a very bad stomach. It helped me in so many ways, and cured me of afflictions that the doctors said could not be cured. TRACTION COMPANY NOTES.

New Time Table on the Crosstown Line—A Half Hour Service on Academy Avenue and the North End Extension.

Commencing on this date, Sept. 28th, 1897, a new time table will go into effect on the crosstown line, and by it a regular leaving time at given points will be maintained.

Cars leave Genung street every half hour from 6:15 a. m. to 10:15 p. m., running to the city limits at the North End. Cars also leave Electric avenue, the end of the North End extension, every half hour from 6:15 a. m. to 10:15 p. m., running to Franklin Square only.

Cars leave the city limits at the North End every half hour from 6:30 a. m. to 10 p. m., running to Genung street, and every half hour from 6:20 a. m. to 10:20 p. m. for Franklin Square only.

Cars leave Franklin Square for points between there and the city limits at the North End at 6:20 a. m., 6:30 a. m., 6:50 a. m. and 7 a. m. and the same minutes after each hour throughout the day until 10:30 p. m. Cars leaving Franklin Square on the even hours and half hours run to Electric avenue, the 20 and 50 minute cars to city limits only.

In addition to the above, the last car at night will leave Electric avenue at 10:45 p. m., Franklin Square at 11 p. m. and Genung street at 11:05 p. m., returning to the power house unless they have passengers for the North End, returning to power house after all passengers are off.

Transfers will be issued to Academy avenue from the car that runs to Franklin Square, only on cash fares, 25 and 50 trip books but not on 16 and 30 trip books.

DR. BERMINGHAM APPEALS.

Wants the State Health Board to Allow Him Start a Consumptive Home at Liberty.

Dr. Edward J. Bermingham, of New York, who desired to establish a sanitarium for consumptives in Liberty and whose plans were thwarted by the village Board of Health, which passed an ordinance for bidding the establishment in the village of any sanitarium or hospital for the treatment of "diphtheria, scarlet fever, small pox or consumption," has appealed to the State Board of Health on the ground that the local Board has no authority to prevent the establishment of a hospital for the care of the sick. The question has been referred to Attorney-General Hancock for an opinion.

WONDERFUL WORK.

If This Had Happened in San Francisco Instead of Middletown, More Than One Reader Would Dispute It.

The average man is a doubter. It is due to this fact, coupled with necessity that such rapid strides have been made in mechanics and science. Curiosity and investigation are necessary in every business. Without it failure is the inevitable result. Middletown people are asked to investigate the following: It is a simple thing to do. The party interested is a citizen. He doesn't live in New York or Detroit. Ask F. M. Newkirk, of No. 172 West Main street, if the following is not his experience with an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. He says—"There have been times when I wished I could quit work on account of my kidneys. I have had ten years of it. Latterly my troubles have been complicated. A weak stomach and dyspepsia preventing me from indulging in strong foods, such as I require to fit me for following my occupation. Backache, headache and dizziness accompanied this, often so severe that they made me wild. It took medicines of all kinds for my sickness, but I received little or no lasting relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. E. Mills' drug store. They seemed to help me right from the start and I kept on taking them until I was cured. The old pains and aches have left me and there is no indication of the trouble returning. They did for me all that any medicine could do. Indirectly they have helped my stomach, for now I can eat the strongest and richest food. I will always praise Doan's Kidney Pills. I can be spoken to any day, as I make my rounds and I will be only to glad too give any further particulars."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50 Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for United States. Sent by mail on receipt of price. For sale by all dealers.

Remember the name Doan's, and take no substitute.

MUSICAL MEXICO.

A Land That Has Many Good Military Bands.

One does not have to travel far or stay long in Mexico to discover that it is quite as much a musical country as any other in the world, says Lippincott's. Even the stay-at-home Americans a dozen or so years ago fancied that they had made this discovery, when Mexican military bands and typical orchestras began to "tour" the United States, astonishing us well as delighting the crowds they attracted everywhere. But the truth is, the American stay-at-homes, with all their admiration for the music the Mexicans brought to them, gained scarcely any idea of how far the Mexicans were to be classed as a musical people. They supposed, very naturally, that the famous —th regiment band and the typical orchestra comprised all, or about all, that Mexico had to send abroad; that they fully represented the music of their country; and that they were probably considered prodigies in the land whence they came. Such impressions are quickly dispelled in Mexico.

The semi-weekly concerts in the Zocalo, the Alameda and the Paseo, in the capital, do not suffer in the least when the Mexican war department grants one of the military bands, even the best of them, leave of absence for a tour in the United States. And as for the other cities of the republic, even such comparatively isolated towns as Jalapa, Puebla, Oaxaca, Toluca, Chihuahua, Morelia and Guadalajara, each has at least one military band that would be likely to carry off the honors in any competition with the military bands of America.

SHE WAS PLEASED.

Knew He Would Love Her When She Grew Old.

The young man has only recently taken up photography and is an ardent enthusiast, says the Detroit Free Press. He persuaded the girl to whom he is engaged to pose for him. She was seated in a hammock and he stood directly before her when he took the picture. In a day or two he proudly exhibited the result of the sitting. She gave one glance at it and then handed it back.

"Don't you like it?" he inquired.

"I don't assume to criticise," was the reply.

"I thought it was pretty good for a first attempt," he insisted.

"Perhaps it is. I am glad you are satisfied with it, anyhow."

"Of course it might be better."

"Do you think it looks like me?"

"Yes."

"Then, Herbert, I am content."

"But you don't seem very cheerful over it."

"Perhaps I don't show it; but that photograph has made me very happy."

"I'll have a frame made for it and give it to you."

"No; I don't want to keep it. But it fills me with joy, nevertheless. They say that when beauty fades affection vanishes, but when I realize that you can see me depicted with hands and feet like those, without breaking our engagement, I am convinced that there can't be any doubt about your loving me when I am old."

RARE PIG DEER.

Every Other Kind of Pig Except This Is Plentiful Enough.

Among the more recent and important arrivals at the Zoo are two young babirussas, presented by the duke of Bedford—comparatively rare animals, and the only examples seen at the Zoo for about 15 years, says the London Graphic. The word babirussa means pig-deer, and the animal has been so called by the Malays on account of the remarkable development of the tusks in the males, which emerge close together near the middle of the face and sweep with a strong curve backwards, frequently attaining to a very great length. The tusks of the lower jaw arise like those of the boar. What the male babirussa needs the upper pair for is a point which nobody, apparently, can satisfactorily settle. Another peculiarity of the animal is that it falls short of the number of teeth usually possessed by the ordinary pig; having only 34 in all, a fact which indicates that it must be directly descended from one of the extinct genera of pigs marked by a similar type of dentition. In other respects the babirussa is not very different from other wild swine. It is a splendid swimmer, has a somewhat lighter gallop than that of the wild boar, and when hunted will fight gamely and ferociously to the last.

Italy Jealous of Her Art.

The Italians have a great reverence for their art treasures. They love them better than we do ours, and regard with jealous eyes the secrets of their handicrafts. When the Council of Ten ruled Venice it issued a decree regarding the art of glassmaking. It runs:

"If a workman carry his art beyond the limits of his country to the detriment of the republic he shall be desired to return. If he disobeys his nearest relatives shall be imprisoned. If, in spite of their imprisonment, he remain obstinate in his wish to live abroad, an emissary shall be told off to kill him." The decree finishes with the considerate words: "After the workman's death his relatives shall be set at liberty."

Considerate Thieves.

Buda-Pesth thieves are considerate. One who had stolen an ivory and silver statuette from the art exhibition, after pawning it sent the ticket to the secretary of the art society, who then for the first time noticed its absence. On the pedestal was a written notice: "Stolen for a day or two."

Morphine in France.

The injection of morphine is a habit that is, unfortunately, on the increase in France, especially among the middle classes. On statistics furnished by the pharmacists it is estimated that there are in Paris at least 50,000 victims of the morphine habit, the majority of whom are women.

THE OLD WAY.

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Barbarous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at the present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigesting is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quanity usually taken, in other words the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for dyspepsia has been proven time and again, but still the moment Dyspepsia makes its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a man suffering from Dyspepsia, because Indigestion itself starves every organ and every nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the Dyspepsia wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of Dyspepsia, in other words the patient eats plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him. In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the purest and safest remedy sold for stomach troubles and every trial makes one more friend for this excellent preparation. Sold at 50cts for full sized package at all drug stores.

A Short Cut to Health.

To try to cure constipation by taking pills is like going round in a circle. You will never reach the point sought, but only get back to the starting points. A perfect natural laxative is Bacon's Celery King, the celebrated remedy for all nerve, blood, stomach, liver and kidney diseases. It regulates the bowels. J. J. Chambers, 57 North street, will give you a sample package free. Large sizes 25 and 50 cents.

WEDNESDAY, Sept 29, 1897.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

ASSEMBLY.

For Member of Assembly,
ALBERT S. EMBLER (First District).
DANIEL P. SCHULTZ (Second District).

JUDICIARY.

For Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals,
ALTON G. PARKER.

After a number of Republican place hunters had been provided with soft berths by being appointed special counsel to the State hospitals with little else to do than draw a salary of $1,200 a year, the discovery was made that these positions came within the open competitive civil service schedule. The office of special counsel was, however, created to give a dozen members of the Legislature a chance at the public crib and not as a reward for fitness or merit and accordingly the Republican Civil Service Commission has modified the civil service rules and a Republican Governor has approved the change and the special counsel have been notified that they can begin to draw their salaries.

Daniel P. Schultz, of Port Jervis, who was nominated for Member of Assembly by the Democratic convention in this city, Tuesday, needs no introduction to the voters of the district. He was a candidate for this office last year, and though defeated made a strong run in the face of heavy odds. Mr. Schultz served for three years in the War of the Rebellion as a member of the 1st N. J. Cavalry. He is Past Commander of Carroll Post, No. 279, of Port Jervis. For a number of years he has been a first class conductor on the Erie road, and is a prominent member of the Order of Railway Conductors. He has for some time been Vice Chairman of the Conductors' Grievance Committee on the Erie system from New York to Chicago, and has assisted in the adjustment of a number of important cases in a manner satisfactory both to employer and employe. Mr. Schultz is well informed on all current topics, is a man of sound judgment and wide practical experience and, if elected, will ably and creditably represent the district, looking closely after the interests of his constituents and seeking in every honorable way to advance, promote and protect their interests.

DRUM CORPS' VOTING CONTEST

Won by Phœnix, Who Will March to the Music of Fife and Drum in To-morrow's Parade.

Phœnix Engine Co. will march to the music of DeWitt Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps in to-morrow's parade having received a majority of the votes in the voting contest, inaugurated by the Corps, to determine which company should have the Corps' services on parade day.

The votes were received in the parlors of the Commercial Hotel, last night, in the presence of representatives from the interested companies and a number of others. The polls closed at 10 p. m. sharp, and the votes were counted as follows:

Phœnix	300
Ontario	228½
Excelsior	194
Eagle	110
Monhagen	79
Wallkill	73½
McQuoid	32
Total	1,017

Thus it will be seen that, at ten cents a vote, the corps cleared $101.70, which will be placed in the bank for a starter on a uniform fund.

F. A. Eilenberger secured 221½ votes, or nearly one-quarter of the total number of votes cast.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

Funerals of Mrs. Arthur Perry and Micheal Pye Held To-day.

The funeral of Mrs. Arthur Perry was held, this morning, Rector Evans, officiating. A large number of O. and W. shop comrades of the bereaved husband attended the funeral. Burial was in Hillside.

The funeral of Michael Pye was held at 10:30, this morning, at St. Joseph's Church, solemn high mass being celebrated by Father O'Hanlon, assisted by Rev. Father Prendergast as deacon and Rev. Father McClancy as sub-deacon. Father O'Hanlon delivered an address upon the manly qualities of the deceased. The pall bearers were from the O. and W. Relief Association. The members of the association attended seventy strong. There were many floral tributes including a pillow from the association.

Base Ball Notes.

—Extra cars will be on hand to convey the public to the great base ball game, to-morrow.

—Did you ever see a Blue Hill Box Kite raised? The first of its kind in this city will be in the air, to-morrow, from the Hospital grounds. You can see it if you attend the ball game.

JUDGE BARTLETT RENOMINATED

Democratic Convention Unanimous in His Favor — Endorsed by National Democrats.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—At the Democratic convention for the Second Judicial District held in Brooklyn, to-day, Willard Bartlett was unanimously nominated for Supreme Court Judge, which office he now holds. The National Democrats also held a convention in Brooklyn, to-day, and took the same action, unanimously nominating Judge Bartlett.

AMENDMENTS ALL BEATEN.

Result of the Vote at New Jersey's Special Election, Tuesday.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 29.—Revised returns indicate that the Anti-Gambling Amendment to the Constitution was beaten by 5,000 to 10,000. The amendment giving women the right to vote at school elections was beaten worse than the Anti-Gambling Amendment, while the Ad Interim Appointment Amendment is probably defeated by a close margin.

HYMENEAL.

Wickham—Dorrance.

One of the happiest weddings of the year occurred at the residence of ex-Postmaster Ira Dorance, No. 89 Linden avenue, at 1 o'clock, to-day, when Miss Frances Dorrance, his youngest daughter, was united in marriage with Clarence Augustus Wickham, of Port Jervis, by Rector David J. Evans.

The house was artistically decorated with palms, ferns and white flowers, this being a "white wedding." The hallway was profusely trimmed with wild clematis. The ceremony was performed while the couple stood under a bower of palms. Mrs. J. F. Dusenberry played the wedding march.

The bride was attractively attired in white silk, with duchess lace trimming, while at her throat was a beautiful diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. Her maid of honor was Miss Sadie Sliter, who wore white organdie over green silk.

The ushers were Fred Corwin, of this city, and F. C. Wickham, of New Hampton.

After the ceremony a delicious lunch was served by Rowley.

The couple will leave on Erie No. 2 for a wedding trip and on their return will reside at Port Jervis, where the groom is associated with his father in a prosperous coal and wood business. They were accompanied by the groomsman, Samuel Farnum, of Paterson.

Miss Dorrance has many friends and acquaintances in this city who will extend congratulations and good wishes.

The out of town guests were as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Wickham, Miss Patterson, Mrs. Akers, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Marsh, Mrs. E. W. Percy, Port Jervis; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wickham, New Hampton; Mrs. Gertrude Wadsworth, Goshen; S. B. Farnum, Paterson; F. E. Tilden, Jersey City; Mrs. Clara Tristrian, Brooklyn; Mrs. Clara Deved Stamford, Conn.; Chas. Tristrian, wife and son, Norwalk, Conn.; Miss A. E. Purday, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Parsells and niece, Mr. and Mrs. James Gumaer, Wurtsboro; Messrs. Horton, Brooklyn.

The groom's gift to the best man and ushers was an opal pin to each; that of the bride to the maid of honor was an amythyst coin purse.

Second Presbyterian Endeavorers Elect Officers.

The semi-annual election of officers of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Second Presbyterian Church was held, last evening, and resulted as follows:

Pres.—W. D. Olney.
Vice Pres.—Miss M. Ada Smith.
Cor. Sec'y.—Mrs. D. B. Hardenberg.
Rec. Sec'y.—Miss Grace Schoonmaker.
Treas.—Edward Smith.

Several new members were added to the society.

POLITICAL NOTES.

—The Socialists of the First Assembly District have nominated James McGarvey for Member of Assembly.

—The Republican convention from Sullivan county, at Monticello, yesterday, was a lively one. The fight between the Couch and Thornton factions was a bitter one and the followers of Couch did everything in their power to prevent the renomination of Assemblyman George McLaughlin. The machine was, however well organized and despite all opposition the nomination of McLaughlin was made and was clinched by the nomination for Sheriff of James Fulton, of Mamakating, the man whom Ben Odell said ought to have the nomination.

Merit Talks

"Merit talks" the intrinsic value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses actual and unequalled curative power and therefore it has true merit. When you buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take it according to directions, to purify your blood, or cure any of the many blood diseases, you are morally certain to receive benefit. The power to cure is there. You are not trying an experiment. It will make your blood pure, rich and nourishing, and thus drive out the germs of disease, strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

Severe Case of Dyspepsia

"I suffered from dyspepsia 20 years. I had a feeling as though there was a lump in my stomach. I did not dare to eat meat or warm bread, very few vegetables, for fear of the great distress food caused me. I experienced relief right after commencing to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. My appetite increased, I gained in general health and strength. I can eat almost anything now without discomfort. Although I had been an invalid for twenty years, I can truthfully say that I am better than for a long time. I never weighed so much in my life." MRS. EMILY F. BUMP, 45 Portland Street, Middleboro, Mass.

OBITUARY.

James R. Avery.

James R. Avery, a former resident of this city, died at his home in Newburgh, Tuesday afternoon, of a cancerous affection of the stomach. He served during the war in the 15th New York Heavy Artillery. While a resident of this city Mr. Avery was for a time a member of the police force of this city, and also served as constable and deputy sheriff.

Mrs. G. B. Wales.

Mrs. Margaret E. Wales, wife of G. B. Wales, died at 11 o'clock, this morning, of Bright's disease, at No. 34 Highland avenue, the home of S. R. Morgan, where she and her husband have been residing of late.

Mrs. Wales was the daughter of the late Moses Seacord, of Monticello. Her mother, who is now a widow for the second time, is Mrs. Alvina S. Horton, of New York.

Mrs. Wales is survived by her only daughter, Mrs. George Moran, a brother, Moses, of this city, and a sister, Fanny, of New York. Her husband, G. B. Wales, to whom she was married in 1870, is a well known retired gentleman of this city. They had lived here since 1889, save last winter, which was spent in New York.

Mrs. Wales had been an invalid for ten years, and for the past seven weeks was confined to her bed. She had a similar attack of the same disease at Monticello, a few years ago, which nearly caused her death.

The funeral will be held Friday. Burial at Monticello.

Real Estate Sales.

—T. B. Dayton, real estate and insurance agent, has sold for John T. Lee his residence and adjoining lot on Broad street to Byron S. Dayton. Possession given Oct. 10.

After serious illness Hood's Sarsaparilla has wonderful building up power. It purifies the blood and restores perfect health.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

A DOUBLE MURDER

Thomas J. Manny Died This Afternoon.

CHRISTIEN'S SECOND VICTIM

The Murderer Still at Large and No Trace of Him Found.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.

Two Witnesses Testify to Having Seen the Murderer After the Shooting—Mrs. Christien's Evidence Contradicted—Miss Christien's Story of What Happened Before the Shooting—Says Strange Men Leered at Her—Mrs. Christien and Her Children Left Wurtsboro. To-day—Descriptions of Christien Sent Out by Sheriff Watson.

Constable Thomas J. Manny, the second victim of Wallace J. Christien's murderous frenzy, died at 1:30 o'clock, this afternoon, at his home in Wurtsboro.

Few new facts of importance in the Sullivan County Club tragedy were developed at the inquest which was concluded at Wurtsboro, Tuesday afternoon. A great crowd had assembled and about every one present desired to be sworn and testify to something or other about the case and their wishes were generally gratified.

Coroner Helm, acting prosecutor Charles H. Stage, of Monticello, and several of the jurymen plied the witnesses with questions and the veteran clerk, J. V. Morrison, took down their replies, interjecting a "wait a moment" every two minutes.

The witnesses' stories have been told, save three, and strange to say these witnesses were supposed to know little or nothing about the matter. When they finally divulged their stories some new facts came out.

HE SAW CHRISTIEN AFTER THE SHOOTING.

George Rutan's story was the best of all. He saw Christien after the shooting and had been offered a sum of money to take him away. He testified as follows:

"I was driving along the road, when I came to the forks in the Glen Wild turnpike. I saw Mr. Christien come out of the woods and he soon overtook me. It was about 2:30, I believe. He sat upon the back of the wagon. He was then three-quarters of a mile from his residence, and he rode a quarter of a mile with me before I turned into the woods after a load of hoop poles. He was very much excited and changed papers from one pocket to another. He asked me how far I was going and I told him. He told me not to tell any one which way he was going or even that I had seen him. He repeated this to me. He also said that two men had jumped on him in the park, that he had given them a good flogging, and he guessed he had better skip out for a few days. He said: 'It might do me some good and it might not.' When Mr. Christien got off the wagon he showed me a check for $5 or $50, I can't say which. He said he would give me that paper if I would take him away. I told him no and drove into the woods. I last saw him walking rapidly up the road toward Monticello."

This testimony established Christien's whereabouts directly after the shooting—one mile west of his home on the road to Monticello.

SEEN ON THE GLEN WILD TURNPIKE

The next witness, however, put him in another direction. Jacob Worman, an old man, who has frequently driven Christien to places about the country, met him on the Glen Wild turnpike, a quarter of a mile east of Christien's home, in the direction of Mountaindale or Summitville. He testified:

"I saw Mr. Christien at the forks of the Glen Wild road, as I was returning from a long drive. It was about 5 o'clock and he was on foot. He hailed me and asked me if I would not take him to Monticello. I told him I had to go home and would return and take him. He left me without a word and I concluded that he did not want to go. I have not seen him since."

MRS. CHRISTIEN'S CONTRADICTORY STORIES

The jury did not believe Mrs. Christien's story, but the average person will forgive her if her story, given the jury, did not agree with those she told others. When Francis E. Grant, one of the directors and the treasurer of the club, told his story it placed an entirely different light on Mrs. Christien's tale. He said:

"When I went to Mr. Christien's house, after the shooting, Mrs. Christien said that her husband was not there. She told me that he had been fired at eight times, and that he had shot in self defense. I then hurried to Pritchard's body, still lying in the road, and turned it over. As I did so a pistol, in a leather pouch, the lid being open, fell from his pocket. I took the pistol, examined it and found that it had not been discharged. I went down to the boat house, saw Manny and asked him if he had a pistol. He told me that it was in his coat and on investigation I found that it had not been fired.

"On returning to the house Miss Christien told me that the two men had chased her brother around the house several times. Mrs. Christien told me that her

LINE OF MARCH.

At 2 o'clock the Chief's call (2-2-2) will be sounded when the line will move and take up the following line of march:

Highland avenue to West Main street, to East Main street, to Railroad avenue, to North street, to Wickham avenue, countermarching at O. and W. depot, to North street, disband at Franklin Square.

The Mayor and Common Council will inspect the department on Highland avenue before starting and review the line at North street, head of Orchard street.

Carriages will be provided for the chaplains of the several companies, and for the ex-Mayors of the city, all of whom have been invited.

MIDDLETOWN, Sept. 29, 1897.

Notice is hereby given that the streets through which the annual parade of the Middletown Fire Department will pass, as per the published line of march, are required to be free from obstructions of all kinds from curb to curb while the parade is in progress, and it is further requested that business men and citizens generally assist the police in keeping the streets free from carriages, wagons, horses, bicycles and like obstructions.

Let each and every one endeavor to give the firemen an opportunity to make as good a showing as possible.

D. W. BERRY, Mayor.
C. C. VEBER, Chief of Police.

A STARTLING STORY.

Infants' Bodies Said to Have Been Found in a Well—Yarn Would Not Bear Investigation.

From Our Goshen Correspondent.

Jo Jefferson started a story that workmen cleaning a well on the premises once occupied by Dennis Driscoll, along the Pine Island Railroad tracks, discovered, yesterday afternoon, the remains of what had been two infants, one white and one colored. The bodies, he said, were badly decomposed and must have been there a long time, for a number of stones were on top of them.

Investigation of the story by the ARGUS correspondent seems to show that the story had its only origin in Jefferson's too fertile imagination. One man was found who said he had been shown a skull which looked like a woodchuck's, but workmen who are employed in rebuilding the Driscoll house, which was recently burned, say that they know of nothing in the shape of bones having been found in the well.

CRAWFORD BRANCH RUMORS

Surveys Being Made for a Connection With the Erie Main Line—Road May Be Extended Beyond Pine Bush.

It is reported that Erie engineers have made a re-survey of the line run several years ago for a link to connect the Crawford Branch with the main line of the Erie. The branch now ends at Crawford Junction, on the O. and W., and the Crawford trains reach this city over the O. and W. tracks. The proposed new line runs through a valley and strikes the main line at Eight-and-a-Half Station. The grades are easy, and unless the right of way was expensive, the road could be cheaply built. The distance is about two miles.

It is also said that Erie officials are seriously considering the extension of the road northward from Pine Bush. A line for such an extension was surveyed a good many years ago but nothing ever came of it.

THE PRISONER ESCAPED.

A Car Burglar on the O. and W. Makes Several Breaks for Liberty.

O. and W. Detective Wilson, of this city, went up the road Saturday to arrest a man who had broken into a loaded car at Cadosia and had been locked in by the train hands. Officer Wilson met the train at Livingston Manor only to find that the man had broken out of the car. A telegram from Rockland informed him that the fellow had taken No. 2 and Mr. Wilson spotted him at Liberty as he was running down the track. He caught the man at Liberty Falls but he broke away and although the officer fired half a dozen shots at him he succeeded in making his escape.

Supposed to Have Fallen from an O. and W. Train

The body of a man supposed to be B. Anderson, of Chicago, was found lying along the West Shore tracks between Cranstons and West Point, Tuesday morning. An Ontario and Western ticket, $133 in money and a steamship ticket were found on the body, and it is supposed that the man fell from the Ontario and Western's Chicago express, Monday evening.

THE KINGFISHER.

A flash of blue and a gutteral cry,
And I see a kingfisher dashing by;
A sudden splash and a surge of foam,
And he bears a fish to his sand-bank home.

Listen again for that loud, harsh noise,
And watch him over a calm pool poise;
Then with a weird, enticing scream,
Beckoning on for a race up stream.

Through the mists where the cascades fall
The halcyon lures with his fearless call,
And then he laughs from a willow bough,
As much as to say: "Where are you now?"

With his breast of white and his belt of blue,
He awaits an admiring glance from you,
Then off and away with a mocking cry—
A flash of blue on an April sky.

A BOY HERO.

"TELL us a story, grandpa—a story, please!"

It was little blue-eyed Sadie who made the request, as she climbed up to her seat of honor on the old man's knee. All the children, with eager faces, crowded round his chair, for they knew that grandpa would refuse his little favorite nothing.

"What kind of a story, my pet?" he said, gently stroking her golden curls.

"A dost story."

"Something about pirates!" cried Ralph, the eldest, who did not believe in fairies or ghosts.

"Or Indians! Oh, do tell us a true story about Indians, grandpa!" exclaimed George. "Mamma said that you could tell us something wonderful that happened once, if you wished to—something real true."

"Very well, it shall be about Indians," grandpa answered; "and my hero is only nine years old—about your age, Georgie."

As the children drew their chairs nearer to listen, they made a very pretty picture in that cozy, firelit room.

"Many years ago," grandpa began, "there lived a family of English emigrants on the western frontier. Their home was not as comfortable as this, for the house was simply a log cabin, without curtains or carpets, and with loopholes instead of windows. Yet Mr. Martin and his wife were very happy, as long as they were untouched by Indians, who were very fierce and powerful at the time I speak of.

"The husband worked all day, cutting down trees in the neighborhood. Sometimes he took with him his little son, named Georgie—who looked very much like the Georgie who is listening to me now. The boy had large blue eyes and long yellow curls—just like yours, my child.

"So they all lived happily in this strange, lonely home for about a year; until one dark, moonless night a party of Sioux Indians, on the warpath, surrounded the cabin, and woke the inmates with a fearful war-whoop.

"Mr. Martin, springing out of bed, seized his carbines and two trusty pistols, and prepared to defend the wife and child whom he loved so well.

"Georgie held the weapons in readiness for his father, while the mother loaded them. Soon, alas, a bullet fired by the Indians passed through the loophole, killing instantly the courageous Mrs. Martin."

"Grandpa, you are crying!" Sadie interrupted, looking up into the old man's face.

"Hush, darling!" he answered, brushing something like moisture from his eyes. "Let me tell you all the rest.

"Then Mr. Martin lost all hope; but for the sake of his child, he made a gallant struggle. The Indians, after six of their number had been slain, burst into the cabin, and one of the foremost, with a single blow of his tomahawk, killed the heroic Englishman."

"And what about Dorgie?" Sadie asked with breathless interest.

"The child fired the last loaded pistol at the savage who had murdered his father. The charge took effect—the Indian was dangerously wounded; but a dozen weapons were immediately leveled at the boy's head. By the interference of the chief, Georgie was saved from death, and carried away as a captive.

"The Indians had two other prisoners besides him—men whom they intended to torture on reaching home.

"After two weary days of journeying over the prairies, the party at length arrived at a Sioux village.

"Crowds of old women and children accompanied by barking curs, came forth to meet them, and especially to jeer the helpless captives.

"The next day, amidst great rejoicings, the latter were put to death at the stake according to the invariable custom of the savages.

"Georgie was turned over by the old warriors to be tortured by the Indian children.

"Imitating their elders, these little wretches tied the white child with leathern thongs to a stake driven firmly into the ground.

"Before piling the brushwood round him, the Indian children with much yelling and confusion retired to the distance of about 20 paces, arming themselves meanwhile with light tomahawks and with bows and arrows.

"They first drew a line which it was forbidden to cross. Then each one in turn stepped to the front and shot an arrow, aiming as close as he could come to the boy without hitting him.

"[illegible] of the arrows [illegible] his head. He was too much interested, or, perhaps, surprised by the terrible ordeal through which he was passing to be afraid. But he grew very angry when one of the missiles, better aimed than the others, carried away a lock of his golden hair.

"The young Indians yelled their applause at this fine shot, and some squaws standing near by seemed to enjoy the sport intensely, for they encouraged the children to continue.

"After a few more trials they grew tired of this kind of archery, so they proceeded to something more dangerous and exciting.

"Each in turn, exerting all his strength, flung a tomahawk at the little prisoner. Oh, it was piteous to see the child, with bright blue eyes, and yellow curls floating on the wind, standing there a helpless target for that crowd of young savages. Yes, his hair was golden as the sunlight—look, my children, how mine is gray!"

"Yes, yes, grandpa! Please go on! Tell us what happened next!" the listeners cried, impatiently.

"Well," the old man continued, "Georgie was in a terrible state of excitement, while, one by one, five boys stepped to the front, and five shining weapons barely skimmed by his head.

"The sixth young savage was the same who had made the good shot a few minutes before with bow and arrow.

"He now poised his sharp tomahawk in the air, took a long, deliberate aim, bent his supple body forward, threw all his force into the effort, then sent the weapon flashing through the sunlight!

"It grazed the little captive's head, and sank into the stake to which he was bound.

"This was too much for Georgie's proud spirit.

"He would not stand to be killed so shamefully! He would fight for his life, as he had seen his father do!

"With all his strength, he tugged at the leather strips which held him, and—oh, joy of joys—found one arm free. He uttered a cry of triumph.

"Grasping the tomahawk above his head, he wrenched it out of the wood, then quickly liberating his other hand, he stood armed ready to die like a man.

"Brandishing the weapon above his head, Georgie rushed toward the astonished band of young savages.

"They had not expected this. They were not prepared for such an action on the part of their captive. They were dumfounded—terrified. So they turned and ran.

"With a shout of triumph, the white child pursued them. On, on they fled, and Georgie after them! A crowd of braves intercepted the boy. He would have been speedily killed, but for the intercession of a squaw, who had witnessed the whole affair. As the wife of the head chief, she had great influence with the tribe. She had lost her own child during the preceding week, and now, as a special favor, begged to be allowed to adopt Georgie. Her prayer was granted.

"And thus the boy hero was saved."

"What became of him afterward?" Ralph asked, as grandpa concluded his story.

"Until he was 18 years of age, Georgie lived with the tribe. He learned their language and gradually forgot his own. He could ride his mustang, fling the lasso and kill the great buffaloes of the prairies as well as the most experienced warriors.

"He acquired such influence over his red brethren that, when the chief died, he was elected to the vacant place.

"At last it happened that a party of his warriors, against his strict orders, attacked a frontier village and bore away as captive a beautiful white girl.

"Georgie, as I call him still, rescued her from danger, became ardently attached to her, and she returned his affection. By her efforts she brought him back to civilized life. They were married, and, as stories say, everything 'went merry as a marriage bell.' My dear children, that is all."

"No—not quite all."

Sadie and Ralph and all the children started, for the voice was that of their father.

"Boys and girls," he said, "do you know where 'Georgie' is now?"

"No," they answered, in chorus. "Where is he?"

"There, in that armchair! He told you his own story."

"What!" they cried, in amazement. "Grandpa, are you Georgie?"

And grandpa answered them. He said:

"Yes. I am Georgie!"—Golden Days.

A Martyr to Melons.

The melon crop was short this year, and a southwest Georgia farmer who had practically "cornered" it in his neighborhood had suffered seriously from the depredations of some of the hungry colored brethren. So he gave out that he had poisoned his melons, and after the news went forth he ceased to miss them.

Night after night an old negro who lived near the finest melon patch had gazed at their green sides with hungry eyes, but the thought of the poison kept him hungry still.

One moonlight night, however, his appetite got the best of him. He looked in the direction of the melons long and earnestly; then shouldering a sack, he started off.

"In de name of goodness, Rufus, whar you gwine?" asked his wife.

The old man turned, pointed to the melon patch and said, slowly and solemnly:

"I'm a-gwine whar dem melons is!"

"But—dey's p'isoned!"

"I know dey is! But I'm gwine ter take my death. Pray fer me!"—Atlanta Constitution.

The American Hotel System.

Proprietor (average hotel)—Very sorry, sir, but you will have to leave this house at once.

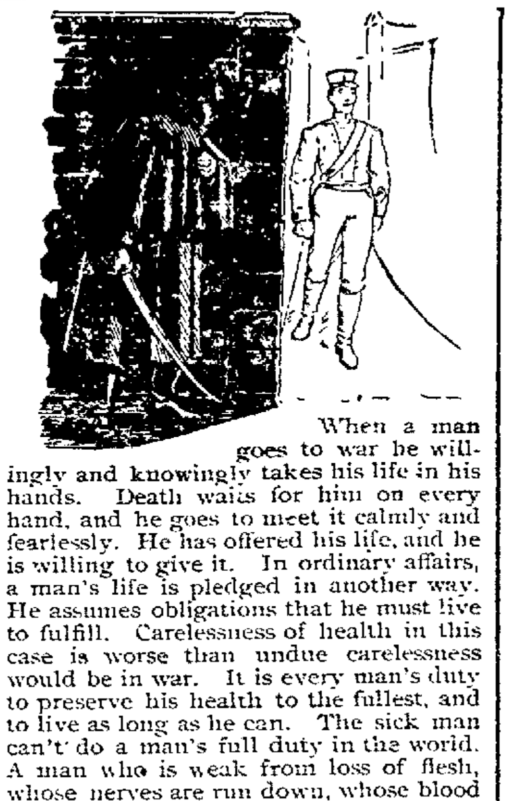
Guest—Goodness me! What have I done?

Proprietor (solemnly)—You said something to a waiter which has displeased the cook.—Yellow Book.

Work for His Stomach Teeth.

Mamma—Tommy, you must not swallow your food whole that way. It will not digest unless it is chewed up.

Tommy—Huh! What's them stomach teeth of mine—that you're talking about—for then?—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.



When a man goes to war he willingly and knowingly takes his life in his hands. Death waits for him on every hand, and he goes to meet it calmly and fearlessly. He has offered his life, and he is willing to give it. In ordinary affairs, a man's life is pledged in another way. He assumes obligations that he must live to fulfill. Carelessness of health in this case is worse than undue carelessness would be in war. It is every man's duty to preserve his health to the fullest, and to live as long as he can. The sick man can't do a man's full duty in the world. A man who is weak from loss of flesh, whose nerves are run down, whose blood is impure, who shows from his sunken cheeks and hollow eyes and lingering cough that he is on the direct road to death or consumption, can in no way perform the full duties of a man. If he lets these things go on, it is because he prefers disease to health—death to life. He can be cured surely and quickly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Thousands and thousands of people have testified to the wonderful effects of this most marvelous medicine.

Dr. Pierce's great work, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," may now be obtained, paper-covered, absolutely free, by any one who will send 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association Buffalo, N. Y. If you desire French cloth embossed covers, send 10 cents extra (31 cents in all) for that more handsome and more substantial binding.

Rev. W. M. Slaughter,
OF WEST VIRGINIA.
Writes of the Benefits Received From Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

DR. MILES' Restorative Nervine is particularly adapted to the restoration of health broken down by hard mental work. Rev. W. M. Slaughter of New Haven, W. Va., writes: "I suffered with extreme nervousness, dizziness, dull and nervous headaches and sleeplessness. My heart came to troubling me, I was short of breath from the least exertion, and suffered much pain in my left side. Medicine and physicians gave me no relief. I procured Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine New Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills and I am sure no words of commendation as to the results can be too strong. I sleep well the dizziness and confused feeling have disappeared, my heart troubles me no more and I feel perfectly well."

The spectre

of housecleaning needn't trouble you a moment. The person that dreads housecleaning knows nothing of Pearline—of its easy work, its quickness and comfort, its saving of paint and of rubbing. Go over everything with Pearline—floors, doors, windows, woodwork, paint, marble, stone, glass, carpets, bric-a-brac—and you'll get through any cleaning job in the shortest time, and with the least labor and fuss. You don't need any other help. Pearline is meant to wash everything that water won't hurt, 535

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

At Narragansett.

"What two fruits go best together, Miss Somergirl?" said Cholly Pierite, as they bent their steps in the direction of the rocks.

"I don't know," replied the sweet one, unsuspectingly. "What is the best combination?"

"Why, a date with a peach, of course," returned Cholly, with the air of a man who was making the hit of his life and he knew it.—Town Topics.

A Consistent Suggestion.

"They ought to change the name of that club of yours," said Mr. Bibbles' wife at the breakfast table.

"In what way?"

"They ought to call it the Klondike."

"I—I must say that I don't see why."

"For the reason that when a man starts out to go there, there's no telling when he'll get home again."—Washington Star.

At the Club.

"Pete Amsterdam's wife has left town, so I invited Pete to come here and have a little game of poker with us this evening, but he hasn't showed up."

"Well, a man who will act that way don't deserve to have his wife leave town from one year's end to the other," replied Col. Percy Yerger.—N. Y. World.

Too Optimistic.

"And," were the concluding words of the professor's lecture to the medical students, "do not promise too much. I knew a physician of real ability who covered himself with ridicule and obloquy by promising a patient, whose legs he had just amputated, that he would have him on his feet within two weeks."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

He Didn't Take.

"I went in for amateur photography during my vacation," said the summer man. "There was no end of girls for subjects."

"But how did you make out among the girls?"

"Oh, I got a lot of negatives."—Philadelphia North American.

A Sure Thing.

Junior Partner—I'm afraid to sell those goods, even on the bargain counter. We may lose the trade of everybody who buys them.

Senior Partner—Nonsense! Every woman who buys those goods will never stop trying to get square with us.—Puck.

Well Supplied.

"Have you any old clothes?" asked the man at the door.

"Have I!" she exclaimed, bitterly.

He needed no further elucidation, and as he ambled down the alley he wondered why husbands were so mean.—St. Paul Dispatch.

No Fire Wanted.

Hicks—They tell me you got terribly angry with Mr. Bass the other evening and drove him from the house.

Wicks—I wasn't angry at all. I heard he was one of my wife's old flames, and so I merely put him out.—Boston Transcript.

Restraint.

Reporter—Well, I've interviewed her.

Editor—Did she talk without restraint?

Reporter—I should say nit! She wouldn't say a word until her husband came in and told her to keep still.—Detroit Journal.

Remember This.

When woman gets to boasting
  That she knows just when to speak,
You may set it down as certain
  That's exactly where she's weak.

The saying, just note how a widow leads
To orange blossoms her widow's weeds!
    —Yellow Book

Broke the Record.

"He broke the record for continuous fast riding."

"Yes; he was arrested six days in succession for scorching."—Cycling Gazette.

Silence Is Golden.

Dodo—Now, tell me, what do you people think of me?

Penguin—And make you my enemy for life? Not much!—Tit-Bits.

When He Gets It.

Visitor—Does mamma give you anything for being a good boy?

Tommy—No; she gives it to me when I ain't.—Tit-Bits.

Reassuring.

Physician (examining a corpse)—Three wounds! The first is fatal, but the two others, luckily, are not serious.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Another Brute.

Friend—Is your brother still the level-headed, sensible fellow he used to be?

Henry Peck—Yes; he is still a bachelor.—Puck.

Easily Done.

"This thing ought to be published."

"Very well. I'll tell it to my wife."—Chicago Post.

A DOUBLE MURDER

husband had gone: that he started for Monticello to give himself into the hands of his lawyer, Mr. Niven. On coming to the inquest, to-day, with Mrs. Christien she told me that when she reached her house she went up stairs and found her husband in his room changing his coat and vest. He had thrown his money and keys one side."

HEARD PISTOL SHOTS.

Frank Watson testified that he heard angry voices and five or six pistol shots, and afterward some one said: "You will, will you?"

Joseph Zolnowski, who was with Watson when they saw Manny stagger from the woods into the roadway, testified to helping carry him to the boat house. They passed Mrs. Christien and her children. The former asked: "Is the man sick?" They answered: "He is wounded." "Can I get him some whiskey?" "Never mind," replied Watson.

THE JURY'S VERDICT.

The testimony was all in at 4:45, and the jury brought in a verdict that Pritchard had met his death from pistol or gun shot wounds at the hands of Wallace F. Christien some time between 2 and 3 o'clock, Tuesday, September 28.

PRITCHARD'S BODY TAKEN TO NEW YORK.

In the meantime the coroner had issued a permit to remove the body of the murdered man to New York. Many gathered about the undertaker's rooms while the body was being removed. It had been placed in a simple wooden box on a bed of excelsior. The father received the son's effects, only the pistol being retained as evidence. He handed it to Coroner Helm, saying: "Take it and use it when you have to and then keep it."

Nearly everyone in the vicinity shook the hand of the heart-broken father and he drove away.

MANNY BROUGHT HOME.

About 5:30 Constable Manny was brought to his home. A party of friends stood in the door, wiping away their tears as the men tenderly pulled the cot from the wagon and carried it into the house. Dr. Piper, who accompanied him, said that he could not survive many hours, mortification having set it.

District Attorney Roosa reached Wurtsboro at this hour and stated that he had arranged for Sheriff Watson to offer a reward of $500. He said that a description of the man had been sent all over the country, and he felt confident of his capture.

A HUMOROUS INCIDENT.

A humorous side never fails to appear in every tragedy, and it became the duty of Deputy Sheriff Tattam, an employe of the club, to introduce it in this case. He took the witness chair with an air of importance, when a juror asked that he be sworn, being "the only man who had a conversation with Pritchard after the shooting and before his death." Tattam looked the picture of self content when he saw every head put forward to hear this very important testimony.

"Yes sir, I had a conversation with the deceased before his death," he said in answer to a question.

"I talked with him at 3 o'clock."

"What did he say?"

"I heard the shots and I went out into the road and saw a man lying on his face about five feet off the Masten road."

"What was your conversation?" asked Mr. Stage as the witness stopped.

"I asked him his name and he rolled over on his side. He replied something that sounded like Kitchner or Kirchner."

"What else was said?"

"That was all the conversation we had." He was not asked any more questions.

Dr. Piper stated to an ARGUS reporter, Tuesday night, that had a physician reached Pritchard directly after the shooting his life would have been saved.

MRS. CHRISTIEN GOES TO NEW YORK.

Officer Faulkner, of this city, who was at the station when O. and W. No. 8 passed through, to-day, saw Mrs. Christien and her children on their way to New York.

MISS CHRISTIEN TALKS.

Mae Christien, the sixteen-year-old sister of Wallace J. Christien, who departed, yesterday, from Wurtsboro, and is now stopping with friends in Elizabeth, N. J., said to a World reporter, last night:

"I went with my brother Wallace, to Sullivan County Park several days ago. I was in the house, on Monday afternoon. His wife had gone with the children to the lake and Wallace was out in the yard.

"Suddenly I noticed two men grinning at me through the window. At first I thought they might be members of the club who wanted to see Wallace on business. But the expression on their faces frightened me. They leered at me in the most horrible way.

"I remembered that only a few nights before a man had been found loitering around the house, and that he had disappeared when my brother went out to find out who he was. I was greatly frightened, but I realized that it was not the time to lose my courage. So I started out and asked them what they wanted. They leered at me insultingly and said they wanted to see my brother.

SHE HEARD THE SHOTS.

"I went back to the house. I don't know whether they saw him or not, but a few minutes later I heard several shots.

"Then Wallace came into the house. I was so frightened that I caught him by the hand.

"'What has happened?' I asked.

"'It's all right,' answered Wallace, 'I frightened them away.'

"Then Wallace went around the house and occupied himself with several repairs that were necessary. Shorty afterwards his wife returned to the house. She told us she had passed two men on the road who were wounded. Wallace changed color at once.

"'Surely,' said he, 'I didn't hurt them.'

"He seemed very much worried and wanted to give himself up at once to the authorities. But upon the advice of his wife and myself he fled, and I don't know where he has gone. I don't know yet that he fired the shots.

"Wallace had been greatly worried for many weeks, and during my stay at his house his health had failed rapidly.

"For days he was unable to leave the house. He was thin and pale, and said to me only a few days ago: 'I am afraid I cannot live much longer.'"

Miss Christian's statement coincides with the opinions of many friends, who declare that the young man was crazed by his business troubles.

Residents of Wurtsboro believe that Christien had not left the park up to Tuesday afternoon. They think he is in hiding in the woods or at his home. The departure of his family, however, would seem to indicate that if he is at the club, he is soon to follow.

Gus. C. Roeder, the World man who was at Wurtsboro, Tuesday, brought a letter from Christien's sister, "Dorothy Dare," the World woman writer, to Mrs. Christien, and he advised her how to act and what to say at the inquest. His story of 2,000 words was sent by the Western Union, and was decidedly biased in favor of Christien.

"Dote" Godfrey, of Wolf Pond, who always shows up during a tragedy, stated to an ARGUS reporter in this city that Christien was at his lodge at Wolf Pond, partook of a luncheon and remained there until 7:30. This spot is but three miles from where Rutan left Christien.

Christien formerly had a bank account at the First National Bank, and later it was withdrawn and Mrs. Christien commenced an account.

E. W. Van Duzer knew Christien well, Van Duzer & Smith having furnished several of the houses which he built.

George A. Swayze, of Crane & Swayze, sold Christien large quantities of lumber used in the cottages which he built at the club.

CONSTABLE MANNY DIES.

By Telephone to the ARGUS

Frank McCune, of the hotel at Wurtsboro, telephoned the ARGUS at 1:30, to-day, that Manny had just died. He sank into unconsciousness at 4, this morning, and his death was momentarily expected. His wife and fourteen-year-old adopted daughter, Bessie, were at his bedside when he died, surrounded by neighbors, who sympathized with them, and prayed that the cold-blooded murderer might be apprehended and made to suffer the punishment due for his crimes.

Constable Manny was serving his second term as an officer of the law when killed in the performance of his duty. He had been a good citizen and a kind neighbor for twenty-five years in the village where he died.

Woman's Nerves.

Mrs. Platt Talks About Hysteria.

When a nerve or a set of nerves supplying any organ in the body with its due nutriment grows weak, that organ languishes.

When the nerves become exhausted and die, so to speak, the organ falls into decay. What is to be done? The answer is, do not allow the weakness to progress; stop the deteriorating process at once!

Do you experience fits of depression, alternating with restlessness? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one moment you laugh and the next fall into convulsive weeping?

Again, do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you, all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound, pain in ovary, and pain especially between the shoulders, sometimes loss of voice and nervous dyspepsia? If so, you are hysterical, your uterine nerves are at fault. You must do something to restore their tone.

Nothing is better for the purpose than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it will work a cure. If you do not understand your symptoms, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will give you honest, expert advice, free of charge.

MRS. LEVI F. PLATT, Womleysburg, Pa., had a terrible experience with the illness we have just described. Here is her own description of her sufferings:

"I thought I could not be so benefited by anything and keep it to myself. I had hysteria (caused by womb trouble) in its worst form. I was awfully nervous, low-spirited and melancholy, and everything imaginable.

"The moment I was alone I would cry from hour to hour; I did not care whether I lived or died. I told my husband I believed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would do me good. I took it and am now well and strong, and getting stouter. I have more color in my face than I have had for a year and a half. Please accept my thanks. I hope all who read this and who suffer from nervousness of this kind will do as I have done and be cured."

Life Insurance Paid.

N. Schellenberg, Treasurer of Harmonia Council, A. L. of H., received, to-day, from the grand officers of the order a draft for $1.000 for Mrs. Teresa Gries, widow of the late Frederick Gries, who was a member of Harmonia Council.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more GRAIN-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. GRAIN-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about one-fourth as much. All grocers sell it. Fifteen and twenty-five cents.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidney and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10 cents.

HEADACHE cured in 20 minutes by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At druggists

No Traces of Poison in Bridget Hayes's Stomach.

Dr. L. H. Friedberg, of New York, the chemist to whom the stomach of Bridget Hayes, of Newburgh, was sent for analysis, reports that he found no poison. This report weakens very materially the contention of those who claimed that the woman was not murdered, but committed suicide.

Pill-Dosed.

With nauseous, big purgers, prejudices people against pills generally. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are revolutionizing the pill demand. They're so pleasant and easy to take—The doses are small and so is the price—10 cents for 40 doses. Biliousness, sick headache, constipation dispelled. Works like a charm. Sold by James T. King and McMonagle & Rogers.

ADDED A NEW DEPARTMENT.

Fancher & Co. Have Put in a Full Line of Dry Goods.

C. W. Fancher & Co., who for six years have been in the fancy goods and notions business at No. 7 West Main street, have added a full line of dry goods to their stock. They will continue to keep the lines of goods which have in the past made their store a favorite resort for shoppers,—ladies furnishings, infants' wear, fancy goods and notions.

Mr. Fancher had ten years' experience in the dry goods trade before embarking in the fancy goods trade, and his knowledge of the business and his acquaintance with the needs of Middletown's trade will make it easy for him to make the dry goods department of the store popular with the buying public.

Don't think that your liver needs treating if you are bilious. It don't. It's your stomach. That is, your stomach is really what causes the biliousness. It has put your liver out of order.

See what's the matter with your stomach.

Sick stomach poisons liver and then there's trouble. Shaker Digestive Cordial cures stomach and then all's well. That's the case in a nutshell.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is no secret. Formula's on every bottle. But it's the simple honest way it's made, the honest Shaker herbs and other ingredients of which it's composed, that make it so efficacious.

Any real case of indigestion and biliousness can be cured with a few bottles of Shaker Digestive Cordial. Try it.

Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1 per bottle.

ONE CENT A WORD

for each insertion. No advertisement taken for less than 10 cents.

IT'S HERE!

The first touch of this frosty weather seems to inject a few Underwear thoughts into our minds. We didn't know but we had made a mistake in figuring upon any cold weather this fall, these hot days hung on like a nine-lived cat. But now we're glad we did fix ourselves in shape to do the Underwear business. We never before had such values to offer.

We Bought Our Underwear!

way back in May, when prices were at the very lowest, and the manufacturers were glad to take orders at any price just to keep the mills running.

We have some bargains that will be a great surprise to you and will serve to confirm you in your correct opinion that this is the place to go when you want your dollars to get the best and most that they can be exchanged for.

REMEMBER OUR PIANO CONTEST!

Every cash purchaser of 50 cents worth of goods will receive a coupon. At the expiration of time the person holding the greatest number of coupons will receive the HANDSOME UPRIGHT PIANO which is on exhibition in our window.

Suits Made to Order from $10 Up. Pants $2.50 Up.
